Representatives of the Seymour Art Gallery hosted artist talks and an opening reception July 12 for the gallery's latest show SHIFT: Exploring Layers of Perspective. Artists Barbra Edwards and Fiona Duthie were on hand to showcase their oil paintings and sculptural felt garments, respectively. Both artists use local, natural materials and subject matter in their work, with a focus on texture, layers and colour relationships. The Gulf Island artists are inviting the public to draw connections between the works and the artists' mutual perspectives. The exhibit will remain on display until Saturday, Aug. 8. seymourartgallery.com
